With Gratitude!

As this year comes to a close, and the end of my term as President is complete, I want to tell you how much I appreciate each and every one of you.

Coaches are such wonderful people, and you are truly exceptional. I appreciate your brilliance, your kindness, your authenticity. I value your communication and relationship skills. I embrace the fact that by your very nature you want to make a difference in the world ... and you do just that!

So it has been my privilege and honor to serve you. I thank you for trusting me and supporting me in this position. I especially want to thank Mike Bellomy for stepping into my role for several months this year. You are a true giver, Mike, and I value you as my colleague and my friend. I know you will lead this organization in a most excellent way in 2005.

I encourage each of you to keep shining your awesome Light and to go for what you want. Make 2005 the best year ever by really sharing your gifts and talents. The world needs you! Together we will continue to have a significant impact on our community, and through the ripple effect, on our world.

I wish you a beautiful holiday season, filled with much love and laughter. I hope you will spend it with the people who matter most to you; and that you experience and embrace the love that surrounds you.

Happy holidays and many blessings for years to come.

Caterina Nur

I attended the first Coachville Live Certification process weekend in Dallas! After three very intensive, high pressure 12 hour days in the toughest steps in this coaching certification process, I am pleased to say that I passed! The weekend covered steps 2-4 of their 5 step process. The standards for passing were at true mastery level. It was an awesome group of very talented, gifted, experienced people coming together. We were all very supportive of each other in a very challenging, rigorous process. I will now be completing their certification process in the next several months. So, I will be in the first group of coaches at Coachville and at IAC to go through this certification process. It feels good to step out, take this step, make this commitment and therefore expand future options.

Kimberly Smith-Martinez

I contributed to an article published in Conexion on November 18th entitled "Creating a 'Wonderful Life' can turn you into Scrooge". Claudia Zapata interviewed me regarding dealing with stress during the holidays and how to delegate/simplify in order to take care of oneself. Unfortunately she was unable to cite my phone number or website so I haven't received any calls from readers but at least it is some exposure!

ICF Conference Tapes and Trade Show Binder

We are pleased to announce that the Conference Tapes from the November 2004 ICF Annual Convention in Quebec City have arrived. The tapes include all sessions presented at the conference. For a small one time investment of $20.00 you may check out tapes each month from our lending library.

Also, Michele Henkle-Irelan once again has done us the great favor of collecting all materials from all vendors who participated in the trade show at the ICF Conference. The materials are put together in a nice Trade Show Binder. Thanks Michele!

See Sue D'Ambrosio, Director of Resources, before or after any monthly SAPCA meeting for both resources.

ICF Coaching Core Competencies

The ICF Core Coaching Competencies were developed to support greater understanding about the skills and approaches used within today's coaching profession. The competencies are the foundation of the ICF Credentialing process.

To support you in continuing to integrate these competencies into your coaching business and also in articulating them to your clients or prospective clients, each month a Core Competency will be featured in this newsletter.

CORE COMPETENCY FOR DECEMBER

FACILITATING LEARNING AND RESULTS

Creating Awareness

The ability to integrate and accurately evaluate multiple sources of information, and to make interpretations that help the client to gain awareness and thereby achieve agreed-upon results:

- ◆ Goes beyond what is said in assessing client's concerns, not getting hooked by the client's description,
- ◆ Invokes inquiry for greater understanding, awareness and clarity,
- ◆ Identifies for the client his/her underlying concerns, typical and fixed ways of perceiving himself/herself and the world, differences between the facts and the interpretation, disparities between thoughts, feelings and action,
- ◆ Helps clients to discover for themselves the new thoughts, beliefs, perceptions, emotions, moods, etc. that strengthen their ability to take action and achieve what is important to them,
- ◆ Communicates broader perspectives to clients and inspires commitment to shift their viewpoints and find new possibilities for action,
- ◆ Helps clients to see the different, interrelated factors that affect them and their behaviors (e.g., thoughts, emotions, body, background),
- ◆ Expresses insights to clients in ways that are useful and meaningful for the client,
- ◆ Identifies major strengths vs. major areas for learning and growth, and what is most important to address during coaching,
- ◆ Asks the client to distinguish between trivial and significant issues, situational vs. recurring behaviors, when detecting a separation between what is being stated and what is being done.
